NEW HOPE FOR BAD SKIN SUFFERERS

MEDICATED FORMULA Instantly CONCEALS PIMPLES, ACNE, BLACKHEADS —WHILE MEDICATION EXERTS DRYING ACTION ON THESE BLEMISHES

It makes no difference who you are—how young or how old—skin blemishes may be keeping you from social and business success. But now you don't have to turn sadly away from the good things in life. You don't have to lose out on happiness! Here's the chance to expand and develop your personality—for Dornol will help you face every occasion...with a smile of confidence!

For a long time, the usual medication for acne and other skin blemishes was a greasy, foul-odor concoction that caused embarrassment to the user. Now comes Dornol with a development that combines the best scientific principles of cosmetics and dermatology.

FORMULA comes in 5 Life-Like SHADES TO MATCH YOUR COMPLEXION

Dornol is a double-acting formula that exerts a drying action on externally-caused blemishes, and instantly conceals these unsightly, depressing skin problems. You have a choice of 5 Life-like shades to match your complexion. In addition, another formula is used as a cleansing agent to remove the heavy oil film usually found in acne conditions. This permits the ingredients in the medicated formula to come into more direct contact with the skin. Dornol can help you change a nightmare existence into one of daily joy and thankfulness. Try Dornol—for women, men, girls, and boys—on our DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK guarantee! Remember—you match your complexion from the wide selection of shades.

TRY DORNOL AT OUR RISK

We know what the Dornol Double-Acting Formula with 5 Life-like Shades has done for others, so we want you to try it at our risk. This is what we say to you: If you are not satisfied and delighted in every way, simply return the unused portions within 10 days and we will refund not only the price you paid—but DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK! What can be fairer than that? You have everything to gain ... and we take all the risk!

HERE'S PROOF—

THE DEADLY VERDICT

VAN MASON sat alone at a small table in the far corner of Sully's Saloon looking dejectedly deep inside the glass of beer he held in his hand. He didn't like the taste of beer or any alcoholic drink for that matter, but he knew that it played a part in the new personality he had assumed. Anyone who was a friend of Big Red and Oakie had to be able to drink heavily and be proud of it!

Van finished the remainder of the beer, paid his bill and left. He had perfected a swagger that showed arrogance and as he walked out of Sully's, he could hear the whispered remarks from the people he passed. He knew they were trying to understand how the son of Claude Mason could turn out to be a hoodlum who ran around with the town's notorious badmen.

It wasn't easy for Van to play along with Big Red and Oakie, but he knew that if he ever wanted the sweet taste of revenge, he'd have to strike only when they were vulnerable. He'd not spent three years in prison for a frame-up just to let the real criminals roam free forever. He was glad his father wasn't alive, to see him in his new role. Claude Mason was a man of direct action and perhaps he wouldn't have understood.

Van walked back to the hotel where he shared an adjoining room with Big Red and Oakie, to wait for their return from Silver City. They had left early that morning on business and they'd told Van they wouldn't return until late evening. Van expected them back early, however, he knew that neither of the men completely trusted him as yet and he'd have to be on guard constantly.

Van climbed the two flights of stairs to his room and lay down on the bed. He needed time to think and so far he had so little time alone. He had been watched since he arrived in town and he knew it. Perhaps his scene at Sully's the night he rode into town didn't have the proper effect on Big Red and Oakie—they could be stringing him along too. That night he'd bought drinks for everyone and boasted of his adventures with sheriffs in fourteen counties.

"Well, if it isn't that kid we met up in Silver City a couple of years back," Big Red had said as he cordially slapped him on the back.

"Back to make trouble, kid," Oakie said looking at him distrustfully.

"I'm not looking for trouble," Van said ordering another round of drinks for them. "At my last address I wasn't treated with kid gloves."

"You ain't angry with us, are you, kid?" Big Red's glazed eyes looked into Van's. "Nothing personal in what we did to you, you know. Somebody had to be the fall guy and you were right there. Come on have a drink on me."

Van hid all the bitterness he felt for the two men as he leaned against the bar gulping down the drinks that were offered to him. He knew that any guy who'd been seen talking to the Indians on the West Gulch reservation that day would have been framed on the charge of bootlegging if Big Red and Oakie could manage a frame-up—and they did. At least this time it kept the law off their trail for the three years that Van had spent in prison. If it hadn't been Van Mason, it would have been another sucker —but Van was no sucker.

Van lay on his hotel bed and tried to sleep. Living at the fast pace by which Big Red and Oakie travelled had been too tiring, especially while using every ounce of restraint he contained.

He had awaken a few moments later by the sound of the opening of the door in the adjoining room accompanied by voices. He quickly arose from the bed and slipped on his holsters, as the door to his room opened.

"Hiya," said Big Red.

"Back early, aren't you?" Van asked hurriedly splashing water on his face from the basin on the table.

"Got what we wanted," answered Big Red as he walked into the room. He sat down heavily on one of the straight-backed chairs and looked at Van from the sides of his eyes.

"Say, kid," he said. "Wanna make some big money?"

Van grabbed a towel from a rack nearby and dried his face. He knew better than appear too eager.

"Who wouldn't want to," he laughed. "Look at me! Don't I look like I need some?"

Big Red watched his every movement cautiously. Van knew that he was probably trying to satisfy any doubts of Van's loyalty, and he continued to play the part of the interested, but not too eager pal.

"The job's a cinch," Big Red's face broke into his first smile. "Oakie and me's been setting it up all day. I like you . . . you can come in if you wanna."

The door suddenly slammed and both men jumped at the sound. Oakie stood in front of Big Red, his eyes angry and red.

"Have you blown your mouth off to the kid?" he asked. "Why bring him into this?"

"He's okay, Oakie," Big Red said roughly. "I'm tired of going over this with you. Anyways, you know we need a third guy. Why not the kid?"

Oakie turned to face Van. "Because I don't trust him, that's why. Just because he took that stretch for us and has been cowtailing around us since he's been in town, doesn't mean anything to me."

Van let them argue for a few moments and then he pulled off his holsters and six-shooters and handed them to Oakie.

"Here," he said, "keep these if you still think I can't be trusted. This way you hold all the cards."

Oakie caught the filled holster that Van tossed to him as Big Red laughed. But Oakie didn't think it was so humorous as he checked the guns, took out the bullets and tossed them back to Van.

"I like holding all the cards," he said and left the room.

That night Oakie, Big Red and Van sat in the far corner of Sully's Saloon drinking heavily. Big Red was in his usual jovial mood and Oakie sat quietly by, listening to Big Red's boasting and glancing occasionally at Van. At twelve o'clock the tree men arose and left the saloon.

Van walked between the two men down the main street of the town until they reached the outskirts. Then they turned off and walked quickly toward the back entrance of an old deserted building.

"Well, here we are, kid," said Big Red as he unlocked the door. "Watch your step."

Van followed Big Red down a flight of stairs into a large, damp room. He heard the click of the lock at the top of the stairs and then the footsteps of Oakie directly behind him. For a moment standing in the darken room, Van was frightened.

Suddenly the lights were on and Van was surrounded by hundreds of wooden crates marked with an X. He knew immediately that both Big Red and Oakie were still selling liquor illegally to the Indians and this haul would be worth thousands of dollars.

They had been caught once and used Van as their scapegoat —evidently they didn't plan on being caught this time.

"Them redskins are going to be plenty glad to see us tonight," Big Red said. "The buckboard's ready, boys, so let's get these crates out."

"We aren't going anywheres," Van said evenly. "You've made your last trip."

Both men turned to look at him. Big Red smiled at first, but when he saw the serious expression on Van's face, his smile faded.

"What have you got to say about it?" Oakie asked. "You're just here to carry crates, that's all."

The perspiration began to creep out on Van's forehead as he faced the men. They knew that his holsters held empty guns, and that both men could easily overpower him. All he could do was hope that all his well-laid plans had gone accordingly and that in a moment the door would burst open and Sheriff Thomas would appear with his six-shooters in each hand. But nothing happened.

"You boys have been selling this stuff illegally for years— you even sent me away for three long years to protect yourselves. Now we've got you with the evidence that'll convict you and this time there is no fall guy. This time you'll serve your own time."

Just before Van heard the shot and blacked out, he thought he heard the sound of Sheriff Thomas's voice, but it wasn't until he awaken hours later that he discovered that Big Red and Oakie had been arrested. Sherriff Thomas had believed Van's story of being framed and decided to help him catch the real criminals even though it meant setting him as human-bait in the trap.

"I always knew that any son of Claude Mason was all right," he said to Van lying stretched out on the hospital bed. "After all, wasn't he the fastest drawin' judge that ever stalked a bootlegger in Arizona?"

BLACKHEADS "PET HATE"

Say Men, Girls in Choosing Date

What a "black mark" is the blackhead . . . according to men and girls popular enough to be choosy about dates!

"Nobody's dreamboat!" "Nobody's date bait!" And that's not all that's said of those who are careless about blackheads. But blackheads ARE ugly! Blackheads ARE grimy! And they DON'T look good in close-ups!

So can you blame the fellow who says, "Sure, I meet lots of girls who look cute at first glance. But if, on that second glance, I see dingy blackheads, it's good night!"

Or can you blame the girl who confesses, "I hate to go out with a fellow who has blackheads. If he's careless about that you're sure he'll embarrass you in other ways, too!"

But you—are YOUR ears burning? Well, you've company and, sad to say, good company. There are lots of otherwise attractive fellows and girls who could date anyone they like if they'd only realize how offensive blackheads are . . . and how easily and quickly they could get rid of them . . . if they want to!

"He-Man" Often Guilty of Blackhead Crime

Take your "he-man" . . . super at track, games, sports of all kinds . . . who thinks that after just a shower he's ready to go anywhere! And won't the girls all admire his muscles!

Sure they would! But not many dance floors are set up for hurdle races! You can't show off your snappy left hook when only cokes are in the ring. The "he man" who's also clean-cut, will get the breaks wherever he is.

Even Cute Girls Become Careless

Easy, too easy, for a girl to think that if she has the latest in clothes and hair-do she needn't bother about blackheads. A little more make-up, she guesses, will take care of that. BUT MAKE-UP WON'T HIDE BLACKHEADS! Not unless it's plaster of paris, maybe! And even good make-up "slips" at a dance! So don't take chances, cute though you may be!

TAKE THESE TIPS TO BANISH BLACKHEADS

Keep skin clean by washing morning and night with warm, almost hot, water. Use good soap and plenty of it. And finish with cool water.

Extract every blackhead as soon as you see it—with a SAFE extractor. Don't use finger nails. Don't squeeze. That may mean infection, injured tissues, a marred skin.

Just be clean! Be quick! And be safe! That's easy! And that's ALL!

BUNK!

NOBODY IS JUST "Naturally"

SKINNY!

Give Me 15 Minutes A Day And I'll Give YOU A NEW BODY

WOULD you believe it? I was once a skinny 97-pound weakling. People used to laugh at my spindly build. I was ashamed to strip for sports or for a swim. Girls snickered at me behind my back. Folks said I was just "naturally-born skinny!"

Then I discovered my marvelous new muscle-building system—"Dynamic Tension." And it turned me into such a complete specimen of MANHOOD that today I hold the title, "THE WORLD'S MOST PERFECTLY DEVELOPED MAN."

ARE YOU
Skinny and run down?
Always tired?
Nervous?
Lacking in Confidence?
Constipated?
Suffering from bad breath?
Do you want to gain weight?
WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT is told on this page!

WHAT'S MY SECRET?

When you look in the mirror and see a healthy, husky, strapping fellow smiling back at you – then you'll be astonished at how fast "Dynamic Tension" GETS RESULTS!

"Dynamic Tension" is the easy, NATURAL method that you can practice in the privacy of your own room—JUST 15 MINUTES EACH DAY—while your scrawny chest and shoulder muscles begin to swell . . . those spindly arms and legs of yours bulge . . . and your whole body starts to feel full of zip, ambition, self-confidence, and new energy!

"Dynamic Tension" Builds You NATURALLY

Thousands of other fellows are becoming marvelous physical specimens – my way. I give you no gadgets or contraptions to fool with. You simply utilize the dormant muscle-power in your own body. In a very short time, you'll watch it grow and multiply into real, solid, rippling, LIVE MUSCLE.

Awarded the title of "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man" in an international contest.
